

Building tomorrow's minds : On the shoulders of teaching giants in the bush capital

We are honoured to nominate Andrew Maurice, a member of our Year 6 team, for the 2024 World Teachers' Day Awards. Though still in the early stages of his career, Andrew has quickly become a pillar of the Forrest Primary School community, demonstrating leadership, dedication, and professionalism far beyond his years of experience.

In his role as ICT coordinator, Andrew has consistently gone above and beyond to support staff across the school. His remarkable patience, technical expertise, and willingness to help ensure that teachers are well-equipped to integrate technology into their classrooms, enhances both teaching and learning. Andrew's support has been vital in creating a more efficient and connected learning environment, and his impact is felt by both staff and students alike.

As a member of the Maths leadership team, Andrew's contributions have been invaluable. His commitment to researching best practices, organizing professional learning sessions within the school, and driving the school's strategic response to improving Maths outcomes have had a significant influence on the overall academic growth of our students.

One of Andrew's most admirable qualities is his dedication to supporting some of our more challenging students. He has voluntarily taken on the responsibility of working with students who require additional care and guidance, and under his mentorship, these students have not only thrived academically but also developed greater confidence and self-regulation. His deep commitment to these students showcases his genuine care and belief in the potential of every learner, regardless of the challenges they face.

Andrew Maurice is a true teaching giant who, despite being in the early stages of his career, has already made a profound impact on our school. His leadership, expertise, and unwavering commitment to student success make him an exemplary candidate for recognition on World Teachers' Day.
