

Building tomorrow's minds : On the shoulders of teaching giants in the bush capital

I am proud to nominate Mrs Anne Barbic to be recognised on World Teacher's Day 2024. Anne is an outstanding educator whose 40 years of service has touched countless lives, both in mainstream schools and in Special Needs settings. Anne Barbic is the personification of care and compassion, consistently going above and beyond to ensure her students feel valued and supported. Her classroom is more than just a place of learning; it's a nurturing environment where each child is encouraged to do their best and to always be kind and look after one another.

What sets Anne apart is her remarkable ability to build strong, lasting relationships with both students and their parents, and also with her colleagues. She understands the importance of a collaborative approach to education, regularly engaging with families to ensure that every student has the support they need, both in and out of the classroom.

Her open communication and genuine concern for her students' well-being have made her a trusted and beloved figure within our school community.

It's not just her experience and relational skills that make Anne exceptional. Her willingness to always do more is truly inspiring. Whether it's staying after school to offer extra help, organising school events, or simply being a listening ear, Anne embodies the spirit of dedication that defines great teaching.

As our worthy school nominee for World Teacher's Day, we acknowledge Anne for her unwavering commitment to education. Her legacy of love, compassion, and excellence will continue to inspire generations to come.
